Boston Trip

TS62 Honolulu

Honolulu in the Boston Public Library

The aesthetic journey

By Honolulu TS62

On Saturday, June 29, 2019 the Thai Scholars '62 visited one of the most historical cities in America: Boston.

Our journey started in the beautiful Boston Commons. We wandered around the city and visited the Boston Public Library. In the library, we were able to see amazing artwork and architecture unlike what we have ever seen before. The library was so extensive, it was impossible for us to explore every room in the time we had. Hopefully, we can go back soon and discover more!

In the afternoon, our lovely Honolulu group traveled by the historical Boston subway to Kendall station where the famous Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) is located. We then had lunch at a well-known Mexican grill, Chipotle. We met our Thai scholar senior, who studied at MIT.

They walked us through the campus and shared the history of different parts of the college. Although we did not have a lot of time to see everything we wanted, we really enjoyed our trip and are looking forward to visiting Boston soon!

THE JOURNEY TO BOSTON

MONTGOMERY NEWSLETTER

FISRT TRIP OF TS62

On June 29th ,2019. Thai scholars had a chance to hit the road to Boston , Massachusetts. This is the first trip for us to go on visiting other city in the U.S.

And as a discussion group we decided to go to places as we planned.

MONTGOMERY AS WE GO

For our group , Montgomery.
We visited many landmarks in Boston like
Chinatown
Trinity Church
Boston City Park
Boston Public library
Then , we met other groups for college visiting together at
MIT-Massachusetts Institute of Technology

CHINA TOWN WALKING

The first place in Boston that we went to was China Town.

We went by many Asian stores but we finally stopped at the Bubble Milk Tea Shop.

We ordered a lot of drinks which are really refreshing and delicious.

They are almost as good as Bubble Milk Tea in Thailand.

EATING THAI FOOD

We decided to go for a lunch at the Thai restaurant called "Mon Tian"

The food was very delicious, we really enjoy the dishes. And all the people there at the restaurant is also Thai so we can speak Thai to them without breaking The English Promise.

This somehow reminded us as a "Home"

After we finished our lunch, we went for a walk around and passed by many places which were Trinity Church, Boston City Park and Boston Public library.

They are all very beautiful places that worth visiting.

GO TO MIT!

We went to MIT
by the Boston subway
and this is the first time for us to ever went anywhere
by a train in U.S.

We met other groups to visit MIT together and have a campus tour with our former TS as a guide.

We had visited many places such as MIT libraries and the biggest lecture room.

We, Montgomery.
We are gladful and really enjoy visiting Boston
and we will remember all the fun times and good memories that we have together on this journey.
All appreciated.

Best Regards,
Montgomery.

GOOD MEMORIES

TRIP WITH GOOD FRIENDS

NEW ORLEANS' TRIP TO BOSTON

We arrived in Boston at around 10 in the morning. We alighted the bus and then walked past the public park. It was a really long walk, but we got to see the beautiful views of the city. We arrived at the library later than expected. We decided that we would hang around the library for an hour. There were a lot of pretty mural paintings and we took pictures. After we reconvened and walked to the train station we decided that we did not have enough time for Harvard, so we went straight to MIT.

Once we arrived at the MIT station, we stopped at this dining place called Chipotle. It mostly sells Mexican take-away food, but we queued in a very long line. We all thought it tasted strange and exotic. We were waiting for the other discussion groups to arrive so we stayed at the restaurant for some time. Great Bostonian vibes!

We walked from the restaurant to MIT. It was pretty close by actually. Our tour guides were Thai scholars who came before us. They decided that the English promise will not apply temporarily and gave us permission to speak Thai. We sure had a lot of fun speaking our own language. The seniors then gave us a broad overview of the university academy and campus life. We were surprised to learn that MIT students love pranks (although they have safety policies in place). After that, the seniors gave us all a chance to ask questions. We walked to the underground tunnel, which was pretty creepy, to get to the main dome.

BOSTON TRIP

- Philadelphia -

Harvard University

We went to Harvard University which is well-known and the oldest university in the United States. We took pictures with John Harvard Statue and the Harry Elkins Widener Memorial Library. It is known that we will be lucky if we touch John Harvard's shoes!

HOT POT BUFFET, BOSTON - CHINATOWN

Chinatown was the first place that we went to in Boston. When we arrived in Chinatown, we went straight to a hotpot place that we'd chosen while planning the trip. The pork and the fishballs were amazing. Our TA Sam was shocked to learn how much Thais can eat at hotpot buffets.

Subway

We traveled from a place to another place in Boston by the Red Line subway. It's our first time to travel via subway in the US. It's different a lot from the subway in Thailand, especially the fare.

The fare here is more expensive!

Go to MIT

Our trip to MIT!

And we finally came to our destination of Boston trip, MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). We have eminent college guides: our TS seniors. We have learned many things from college trip including MIT hack. Many of us hope that we will be admitted by the college.

BOSTON TRIP

Saturday June 29th

On 29th June, we went to Boston. Each discussion group went to the place that they planned.

- o Harvard University
- o China Town
- o Trinity Church
- o Public Library
- o Quincy Market

The last place before we came back to Brewster was MIT. We met with older Thai scholars and they gave us a tour of campus.

Williamsburg

A day in Boston

Boston State House : This is the first spot near us when we arrived in Boston.

Boston Chinatown

Chinese are everywhere,
luckily, they brought Bubble
Tea here too!

Boston Underground Train

A trip from South Station to Central Station

Mae Asian Eatery Restaurant

Taste of Motherland!

We had Thai official meal for the first time since we came to the US. It was like real Thai food! We felt so nostalgic.

Most importantly, we want to thank Amo, our group's TA, for paying this meal for us.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology : MIT

These pictures are taken at MIT, a dream college of many Thai scholars. The campus was beautiful. The building in the pictures is MIT's Great Dome. The dome is one of the most recognizable of MIT landmarks. It is also a frequent target of 'hacks.'
